An experiment is a procedure carried out to support, refute, or validate a hypothesis. Experiments provide insight into cause-and-effect by demonstrating what outcome occurs when a particular factor is manipulated. Experiments vary greatly in goal and scale, but always rely on repeatable procedure and logical analysis of the results.

1. Introduction. In our previous study (Grasgruber et al., 2014), we identified nutrition and genetics as the strongest correlates of height among contemporary young men from 42 European and three overseas countries (Australia, New Zealand and the USA). Out of all the socioeconomic factors that were examined, only children's mortality approached the significance of nutrition and genetics, which ...
