We are pleased to welcome you to the 15th Symposium on the Practical Application of Mass Spectrometry in the Biotechnology Industry. The focus of this Symposium is the application of mass spectrometry (MS) for product characterization, process monitoring, formulation development and release testing in the pharmaceutical industry.

6th Symposium on the Practical Applications of Mass

Charge Detection Mass Spectrometry (CDMS) is a single molecule method where the mass to charge ratio (m/z) and charge (z) are measured for individual ions. Multiplying m/z and z gives the mass for each ion; the masses are then binned into a histogram to give a true mass spectrum.

The combination of chromatography and mass spectrometry (MS) is a subject that has attracted much interest over the last forty years or so. The combination of gas chromatography (GC) with mass spectrometry (GC-MS) was first reported in 1958 and made available commercially in 1967.
